ALABARÉ BURNBAKE PRISON ART PROJECT

Supporting the rehabilitation of offenders through the therapeutic benefits of art

PURCHASE A PAINTING AND CHANGE SOMEONE'S LIFE

The Prison Art Project is committed to aid rehabilitation of offenders through the therapeutic benefits of art. It was founded by the late Jean Davis in 1968 to help offenders and ex-offenders keep out of the penal system by introducing them to the arts. In 2023, the Burnbake Prison Art Project merged with ALABARÉ which has enabled us to work with a broader scope regarding rehabilitation.

HOW WE OPERATE

The individuals are invited to submit finished work to us which is offered on our website for sale or exhibited and in most cases sold for them. When a painting is sold, 50% of the sale price is credited to the artist enabling them to purchase more art materials to sustain their own work. This step we feel is crucial in building confidence and developing a sense of self-worth, which are important steps in rehabilitation.

ALABARÉ Chief Executive, Andrew Lord says: 'This fantastic project makes a big difference in the lives of people who have limited opportunities to share their creativity. Over the years the project has built up some incredible links with prisons across the country and helped thousands of prisoners access art as a means of therapy, and positive creative expression.'

'I feel extremely honoured that someone values my art enough to purchase it'

Project Participant

'Thank you so much for the art resources, they have been beyond invaluable and absolute life savers.'

Project Participant

The Prison Art Project provides a much-needed support for people in prison, and those who have left. We offer a channel for artistic talent and provide a sense of belonging, often missing from the lives of participants.

Whilst the project provides brilliant artwork at affordable prices, it is fundamentally about allowing artists to explore sides of themselves that they never knew existed or had previously been unable to develop.

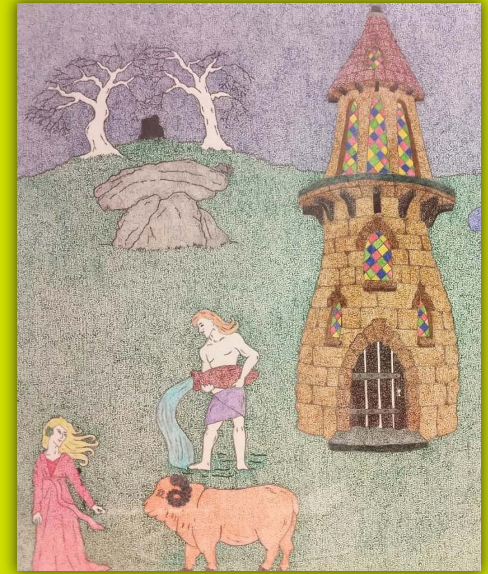

HOW WE ARE FUNDED

We receive no Government funding and are responsible for our own fundraising. We run a tight budget and keep our overheads to a minimum. Fundraising for any charity is never easy and ours is a less glamorous cause than many. Fortunately, there are people out there who firmly believe in the real worth of the project and through their generosity we are able to continue.

Donations are much needed and appreciated – please visit our website for further information. Your support really does make a difference.

'I find my artwork very therapeutic especially here in prison and I can't thank you enough for this opportunity'

Project Participant

"I am so grateful as I have no-one who can afford to send me cash, so without your help I would not have been able to do art work at all"
